Death of Gen. Twiggs.

Telegraphed Expressly for the Bulletin.

AUGUSTA, July 15.

Gen. David E. Twiggs died here this morning after a brief illness.

From The West.

Telegraphed Expressly for the Bulletin.

ASHEVILLE, July 15.

A special dispatch to the Advertiser of Advertiser, dated Jackson the 14th, says:

"The Memphis Bulletin's Extra of Friday reports that McClellan gained victories in his recent engagements near Richmond.

It also states that "Gen. Hindman had captured Curtis with eight thousand prisoners. The officers were detained but the men were paroled, and that preparations were being made in Memphis to send Curtis' men home."

"Four gun boats and one Mortar boat was in sight at Vicksburg.

"In New Orleans, was arresting persons, who gave currency or circulated a report that McClellan had been defeated near Richmond.

From New York.

Telegraphed Expressly for the Bulletin.

RICHMOND, July 15.

The New York Herald's money article for July 10, says the excitement in the gold and exchange markets continue unabated. Gold opened in the morning at 1172 and fell to 115, then began to rally at second board, and was sold at 117, and closed at that bid.

Bills on London 120 advanced. Gold and Bills have led to remarkable activity in merchandise, the people shipping to Europe everything which can be bought. Every one who owes anything to Europe is sending produce to pay the debt, others are shipping on speculation, relying on premiums on their exchange for profit.

The Herald says the advance in bills will nearly annihilate the import trade. The premium in gold is in fact just so much addition of custom duty levied on foreign goods, and as bills are nearly prohibitory before this, it will render them absolutely so. Money continues fairly active, from five to six per cent. Many capitalists are distrustful of the future and decline to part with their funds.

United States six's have declined eleven per cent. New York central thirteen Erie 5%.

A FAITHFUL NEGRO.—A soldier from the battle field of Richmond has related the following incident to us, showing the fidelity of the Southern negro to his master. It is worthy of record:

In the fight of Tuesday, near Richmond, a negro man, named Nathan, belonging to Lieut. Williams, of Co. G, First Georgia Regulars, was captured by a Yankee Lieutenant, and taken to the Yankee camp. On Saturday morning the negro was sent to a spring to procure some water for his new master, but instead of performing that task, he kept on his way to the Confederate lines, where, on his arrival, at 9 o'clock, a.m., he presented himself to Gen. Hill, together with two horses, which he captured from the Yankees on his "masterly retreat." The horses were wounded, and Gen. Hill gave them to the negro. Nathan immediately sold one of the horses for $50, but persistently refused to sell the other. He then reported himself to his master, Lieut. Williams, and is now serving him as faithfully as ever.

The negroes at the South are too shrewd to be caught by the Yankees' false promises of freedom—and the present instance is but one of many evidences of their faithfulness and devotion to their masters.

CAPTURE OF ARMS.—We are informed that Col. James D. Nance, with his regiment, the 3rd South Carolina's, brigade, and a detail of one hundred men from Gen. A. P. Hill's division, was sent on an expedition to Shirley last Thursday, expecting to attack the enemy at that point, and capture a number of arms left there by the enemy in their precipitate retreat. The command reached Shirley about 12 a.m., when they bivouacked until daybreak, as the night was too dark for any operations. At daybreak the command was formed and cavalry scouts were sent out by Col. Nance and Capt. King, of Cobb's Legion, when it was discovered that the enemy were not present. Nothing was left, therefore, to be done but to set to work and gather up the arms, keeping a sharp look out for the enemy's gunboats, for the arms were immediately on the banks of the river. In a very short time, under the intelligent directions of their officers, the men gathered between nine hundred and a thousand arms of the most improved pattern, and conveyed them to a place of safety where they were placed in wagons and sent to the Ordnance department, under the direction of Capt. Rapier, when Col. Nance returned with his command to camp, near the Tuesday's battle-field.—Richmond Dispatch.

CHARLOTTE.

Thursday July 17, 1862.

The News received by Telegraph will be found on the first page.

Those who may at any time order a change in the direction of their paper will be charged 20 cents for each continuance as well as the office to which the paper is to be sent in future.

To the Ladies—The Soldiers. We have been requested to advertise to the ladies of this and adjoining counties that, inasmuch as a Hospital has been provided in Charlotte for sick and wounded.

the post, Dr. R. Kidder Gregory, acting Assistant Surgeon, C. S. A., contributions of old sheets, pillow slips, counterpanes and lint be contributed for the use of the soldiers.

We suggest that any delicacies, such as would gratify and be suitable for the sick or wounded be left at Dr. Gregory's office in Charlotte.

The ladies of Mecklenburg, especially housewives will, we are sure, contribute promptly and liberally, as they have always been pleased and anxious to do heretofore.

All contributions will be left with the donors name and specifications at Dr. Gregory's office, as lists of contributions as well as the names of the contributors will be placed in permanent form, for future reference.

The Commissioners of Charlotte.

The sick and wounded soldiers who have arrived at Charlotte, or passing by on the trains, have no doubt felt very grateful towards the Commissioners of Charlotte for inaugurating the plan which works so admirably in the personal supervision of Mayor Davidson, whereby they are supplied with every thing needed to relieve their suffering and provide for their bodily wants.

We have heard many soldiers express themselves in the warmest manner in favor of the hospitalities and untiring solicitude as manifested by the Committees of Reception and the ladies of Charlotte, who are always encouraged by the presence and co-operation of Mayor Davidson.

The Murder of Mufford—Metallin.

The Richmond Dispatch, of Thursday last, says:

The hanging of a citizen of New Orleans, named Murlord, by the order of Gen. B. F. Butler—a deed unsurpassed in atrocity by anything in the history of the war—occurred on the 4th of July, the day when the Yankees were still in the Mississippi river near New Orleans did not, on the 4th of July, pay the usual compliment to the United States by hoisting their colors at the peak, and decking themselves with streamers.

S. D. RAMSEY.

FEELING IN NEW YORK.—A letter in the Philadelphia Inquirer, dated July 5, says:

There are thousands of sorrowing hearts beating with painful suspense as the long lists of killed, wounded, and missing, which are now beginning to find their way into the newspapers, give no sign of the fate of loved ones who are known to have been in the regiments most holy engaged.

There is no comfort for those but Christian patience and resignation, with the patriotic reflection that they who will no more respond to the roll call died in a good cause, and upon fields that will live eternally in history as a hecatomb of heroes.

An apprehension is expressed that, when the eventful history of the past few days reaches Europe, the clamor there for "mediation," "intervention," &c., will be such as the French Government, if not the British Ministry, will find it impossible to resist. It is scarcely worth while to borrow trouble on this account.

Mr. Seward has been in row pretty much all day, writing up dispatches for Europe by the steam packet leaving to-day. His little parlor at the Astor House was besieged with visitors, anxious inquiries, &c., &c.; but the Secretary was "at home" for nobody—not even his most intimate friends—so I hear.

The steamers were detained three hours behind their usual time, in order to convey these dispatches.

From Richmond. The Richmond Correspondent of the Columbus Guardian writing under date of Richmond July 7, says:

"Of the operation of the last four or five days it will suffice to say, that, while McClellan has succeeded in getting to his gunboats, they have shown that his army is greatly demoralized, and that, however largely it may be reinforced, it can never reach the Confederate capital by the overland route." The position occupied by McClellan at this moment is despicable against attack, and is in easy way to communication with Old Point; but he is to all intents and purposes hemmed in, and dare not come out. Though he desecrates hallowed ground by encamping on the ashes of the Harrison's of Berkeley, his army is stationed in a spot of all others here, under the hot suns of July, it is most likely to be decimated by the fever of the climate; and the fierce heats of yesterday and to-day give abundant promise that the work of death will be wrought as fearfully on the Yankees by the masses of Virginia as by the bullets and bayonets of the Southern army. It is infinitely amusing to see the late rapid movements of the Young Napoleon spoken of by the Northern papers as premeditated, and constituting only a "change of his base line." Gen. McClellan, who is a prisoner here, told an Episcopal clergyman of this city that it was a plan that had been resolved upon some time ago. "And was it a part of the plan, sir," asked our patriotic preacher, "that you should be in Richmond a prisoner?" The general made no reply.

A Counter Rebellion. The U. S. Secretary of War has arrested the editor of the Circleville (Ohio) Watchman and stopped its publication. In connection with the subject we copy the following from the Cincinnati Commercial, of Thursday:

DEMOCRATIC MEETING—TURN OUT EVERYBODY.—There will be a meeting of the Democracy of Circleville, on Wednesday evening, July 2, at Witchell's Hall, to consider the tyrannical kidnaping of our fellow-townsman, John W. Kees, by the emissaries of the Administration and of the dangers to our liberties threatened thereby.

Let not our mouths be muzzled. Every one is invited to attend.

The Richmond Dispatch has information of reliable nature that McClellan and his staff have been ordered to report to the Secretary of War at Washington. The care of the "Young Napoleon" has been left to an inglorious end.

40th Regiments, N. C. Troops.

Lumberton, July 15th, 1862.

Editor of the Charlotte Bulletin.

Sir—You will confer a great favor upon the friends of the 40th Regiment, N. C. Troops, by publishing the following list of casualties in that Regiment in the battle of Malvern Hill, near Richmond, on the evening of Tuesday, July 1st, 1862, viz:

Col. S. D. Kaneson wounded.

Com. A. Capt. Lythe.—Killed, corporal

Finley and private Lowry. Wounded, corporal F. A. James, privates J. Lewis, T.

Flett, T. Daniel, G. Watkins and T. Early.

Missing, private J. Toney.

Com. B. Capt. Bennett.—Killed, private

Wm. Andrews. Wounded, sergeant Biggs

and Headman, corporal Herdon, privates

W. B. Bennett, E. M. Hackney, W. L.

Kirby, J. E. Hickson, A. Riggsbee, J. M.

Col. and J. M. Riggsbee.

Com. C. Capt. Chamber.—Killed, sergeant

Noah, privates T. T. Watson, J. M. Thompson and J. B. Watson. Wounded, Captain

Chambers, privates J. G. Williams, W. B.

Daniel and G. McCarn. Missing, E. Wiss.

Com. D. Capt. Black.—Wounded, privates

C. C. Bean, A. M. Black, J. N. Copeland, A. Johnson and E. Jones.

Com. E. Capt. Moore.—Wounded, sergeant

T. L. Balk, private W. P. Sharp. Missing,

privates L. Sherrill and W. N. Byers.

Com. F. Capt. Davis.—Killed, 1st Lieut.

J. W. Barnett, privates J. Pierce and J. Alexander. Missing, privates D. Bennett, J. M. Warlie,

E. Phifer, W. Stevenson, W. Newell, S. Neil,

both eyes shot out, D. J. Keenan, one leg shot off.

Com. G. 1st Lieut. Dickson commanding.—

Killed, sergeant L. Bryson, privates J. A.

Lorance and W. M. Torrence. Wounded,

privates E. W. Adams, J. P. Bryson, C. Bald-

win, J. Blackwood, T. O. Crawford, J. S.

Forby, J. A. Ferris, J. J. Pearson, F. M. Pay-

ton, T. J. Faine, L. L. Rankin, J. L. Thorn,

E. Thomas and E. Worman. Missing,

corporal J. Davis, privates R. F. Boyd, J. Huff-

mauer, W. J. Ray and A. Payson.

Com. H. Lieut. Rankin commanding.—

Killed, sergeant L. Bryson, privates J. A.

Lorance and W. M. Torrence. Wounded,

privates E. W. Adams, J. P. Bryson, C. Bald-

win, J. Blackwood, T. O. Crawford, J. S.

Forby, J. A. Ferris, J. J. Pearson, F. M. Pay-

ton, T. J. Faine, L. L. Rankin, J. L. Thorn,

E. Thomas and E. Worman. Missing,

corporal G. T. Davis, privates R. F. Boyd, J. Huff-

mauer, W. J. Ray and A. Payson.

I would say in explanation of the delay in the publication of the above list that two such lists were made out and sent to the Richmond Dispatch and Examiner, but were not published. I would further state that the 40th Regiment, though recently organized, performed its whole duty in a manner that called forth the praise, but it is said that this plan would soon be abandoned.

INSULATING THE YANKEES.—The Yankees New Orleans Delta, of the 5th instant, notices in a very spiteful manner

the fact that the Yankees were received in the Mississippi river near New Orleans

did not, on the 4th of July, pay the usual compliment to the United States by hoisting their colors at the peak, and decking themselves with streamers.

State of North Carolina.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

Raleigh, June 26, 1862.

In pursuance of an Ordinance of the Convention of this State; I, HENRY T.

CLARK, Governor of North Carolina, do hereby make known that all officers and soldiers in the service of the State or of this State, or who, if within the State, shall be absent from their respective counties at elections hereafter to be held, if the exigencies of the times shall permit, shall be entitled to vote. Sheriffs, Clerks of the County and Superior Courts and members of the General Assembly in their represents, and members of the Senate and House of Representatives in their districts, shall be entitled to vote. All other officers and members of the State and County Government, and members of the General Assembly in their districts, shall be entitled to vote.
